

BOUNDARY DISPUTE HAS BEEN SETTLED

ASSESSOR OF ESMERALDA, WITH
NYE COUNTY OFFICIALS,
FIX UP MATTER.

Sheriff W. A. Ingalls, in his capacity of assessor of Esmeralda county, paid an official visit to Tonopah yesterday, to determine, once for all the boundaries of Nye and Esmeralda county. There have been properties here which have been in dispute for many months, and it has been tacitly understood between the commissioners of both counties that where taxes have been collected in mistake, they shall be refunded to the other county.

In company with County Commissioners Cuddy and MacQuillan, Sheriff Owens, Surveyor Bradford and W. W. Booth, Sheriff Ingalls rode about the confines of the city yesterday afternoon, and the survey showed that the following properties, which had been assessed to Nye county, are in Esmeralda: The Red Rock Mining company, Monarch Pittsburg Extension company, Great Western Mining company, West Tonopah, Tonopah Standard, and the German-American Mining company.

The old county hospital, which is in the divide between Mt. Brougher and Butler is in Nye county, as is everything else that has been accredited to us with the exception of a few nondescript shacks.

PIUTE INDIANS AFTER DESPERADO

OFFICER AND REDSKINS HAVE
CORRALED THE MURDERER
NEAR RHYOLITE.

RHYOLITE, Sept. 26.—A special to the Goldfield Tribune says: Twenty frenzied Piute Indians, together with a deputy sheriff from this point are tonight surrounding a clump of willows, demanding the blood of Charles Clay, said to be one of the most notorious and successful desperadoes in the western country. The redskins and the officer are all heavily armed, while Clay, who is in hiding in the willows, has a Winchester and two revolvers with which to defend himself. He declares he will never be taken alive. Up to a late hour tonight no advice had been received with regard to the attempt to capture the bad man, but it is the general impression that his body will be riddled with bullets before the posse has sufficient nerve to approach his hiding place. Clay is well known to the authorities of Goldfield, Greenwater, Rhyolite and throughout Idaho.

A few nights ago a Mexican by the name of Castro was killed at Beatty, and an Indian was shot to death at about the same time at Pahump, a small place 40 miles south of Amargosa, in the southern extremity of this county. As to who killed Castro there is considerable doubt, but five men have been arrested charged with the crime. Empty cartridge shells were picked up near the body of the dead man, but no firearms were found.

The Indian is said to have been assassinated by Clay, who poured lead into his body with practically no provocation whatever. Clay escaped immediately after the crime was committed, and was located only today. On Monday, John Casey, a deputy sheriff from this place, accompanied by Justice of the Peace Kalaher, went down to hold an inquest over the remains of the Indian, and the verdict was to the effect that Clay had committed the crime without provocation. Tonight Kalaher returned to Rhyolite and stated that just before he left the southern camp Clay had been located in a large clump of willows, whither he had fled after securing a Winchester and two revolvers. The Indians in the southern country, all of them Piutes, and great friends of the murdered man, have been wild ever since the crime, and assisted Casey in running Clay to his rendezvous. But simply locating the alleged desperado and forcing his surrender proved different propositions, and at last accounts the man hunters were balked, but had the clump of willows well surrounded, and intended watching all night. Clay is said to have shouted a warning from the bushes that the first man attempting to capture him would fall dead in his tracks, and that he would pick all others off one by one. The fellow is known to be a dead shot, and how to bring him to time without killing him outright is a problem. Every Indian has one or more guns, while the deputy is a veritable walking arsenal. Two or three of the redskins are reported to have urged the officer to allow them to walk into the thicket and tackle Clay, even at the risk of their own lives, but this was considered a foolhardy move and was denied. Before morning, however, it is believed a slaughter of men will have ensued. It is extremely difficult to get any word through Rhyolite tonight.

Clay broke jail in Idaho, years ago, and is said to have openly boasted that he would never be taken alive by any man.

SHOSHONE CREEK WATER INVOLVED

FAIRVIEW ROUND MOUNTAIN
COMPANY GETS TEMPORARY INJUNCTION.

The Fairview Round Mountain Mining Company, through its attorneys, McIntosh and Cooke, have secured a temporary injunction against the Round Mountain Hydraulic Mining Company. They have asked for a permanent injunction to prevent the hydraulic company from diverting the waters of Shoshone Creek for the operation of their giants. The hearing of the injunction has been set by Judge O'Brien for October 12.

The rights of Shoshone Creek were bought by the Round Mountain Daisy, and leased to the hydraulic company. The Fairview Round Mountain Company bought the Moore-Chapman mill, and if the hydraulic company takes all the water of Shoshone Creek, it is claimed by the plaintiff that its mill will be rendered useless for the lack of water. The mill, it is said, was set up at a cost of $50,000.

The attorneys for the hydraulic company are Hon. George A. Bartlett, George Thatcher and L. A. Gibbons. They will put up a bond and asked that the temporary injunction be dissolved. It is claimed for the defense that the mill of the Fairview Round Mountain Company cost $50,000, instead of $50,000, and that the rights to Shoshone Creek had been secured long before the Fairview Company bought its mill. The Round Mountain Hydraulic Company has invested, thus far, $85,000, and expect to be ready to have the water turned on in a week.

IMMENSE PROFITS IN PIPE LINES

NEW YORK, Sept. 26.—The Indiana Pipe Line Company, a subsidiary of the Standard Oil Company, made a profit of $4,091,022 in 1903 on a total investment of $2,228,755, according to the figures produced by George Chesebro, controller of the National Pipe Line Company, who appeared as witness today in the Federal suit against the oil combine. Chesebro testified that the Indiana Pipe Line Company was a common carrier and engaged only in the transportation of oil. From balance sheets of the company, Frank Kellogg, conducting the government case, sought to show that the Indiana company was making extensive profits and that it maintained a high schedule of tariffs to prevent shipments of oil by independent producers. Chesebro testified that the Indiana company transported practically only the oil of the Standard Oil Company. Counsel for the government alleges that it will be shown that the profits made by these pipe line companies have, in some cases, been twenty times the actual cost of operations.

HINES DEFENSE UNWRITTEN LAW

GOLDFIELD, Sept. 26.—John C. Hines will enter court tomorrow morning to stand trial for his life on a charge of murder brought against him by the Grand Jury of Esmeralda county. The court will open at 10 o'clock, having in attendance a venire of 150 jurors, from which will be picked the twelve men upon whose decision the fate of Hines will stand. The unwritten law will be the basis of the defense, although the defense has other lines planned which are equally as strong, but will not be brought forward at once unless some unforeseen turn in the prosecution makes such a course imperative. No special prosecution has been engaged in the fight against him, and District Attorney Swallow and his assistants will conduct the entire prosecution. The attorneys for the defense now number three, two others lately having been taken into the case. The defense until recently was represented entirely by Judge Cochran, but lately Attorneys Truman and Donovan have become associated with the case.

Hines stands indicted for the murder of Count Constantin Podhorski on March 21, 1907, in the Sunset cafe on lower Main street. The indictment was returned against him on March 28 by the Grand Jury which has just completed its session during its previous session in Hawthorne. At his arraignment Hines entered a plea of not guilty, and was taken from the jail in Hawthorne to the penitentiary in Carson City, where he was confined until the date of his trial in Goldfield drew near, when he was brought to this city.

DISEASE FROM MONKEYS.

NEW YORK, Sept. 26.—Curator Raymond L. Dittmars of the New York Zoological park has been told by his physicians that his lungs are infected and he has left for three months of outdoors in the mountains of Sullivan county. It is believed the zoologist's illness is owing to his trying to stamp out tuberculosis among the monkeys at the park. He has been engaged in that work all this year.
